Some Women

jump at it. They're quick to see the advantages of Pearline, quick to economize and save, quick to adopt all the modern improvements that make life easier. And these quick women are the ones that are likely to use Pearline (use without soap) in the right way, and to find new uses for it, and get most out of it.

Some Women

have to be driven to it. They wait until they can't stand the old-fashioned way of washing any longer. Then they get Pearline. But ten to one they use it for only part of the work, or use it some way of their own, or use something else with it—and don't get half the help they ought to.

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 511 JAMES PYLE, New York.

ALL FOR SOUND MONEY.

Thousands Followed Thousands Into Canton Saturday.

Constant Arrivals of Immense Delegations Engaged in a Grand Cause.

Men in All Walks of Life Listened to Earnest Words From McKinley.

Canton, O., Oct. 10. Major McKinley made his fourth speech today to forty bishops of the Agrian Methodist Episcopal church of Zion. The bishops selected Bishop G. W. Vinton, of Charlotte, N. C., as spokesman. Major McKinley responded briefly.

A delegation of commercial travellers were the next callers, 500 from Mansfield, Ohio, 200 from Indianapolis and 200 from Rochester, N. Y. Major McKinley addressed them from a stand in front of the lawn. It was one of the most enthusiastic and interesting delegations of the day.

Three hundred Pennsylvanians from the anthracite regions of the Lackawanna and Wyoming valleys marched up and filled the space before the stand while the travelling men were departing. Just behind them marched the Grand Army club from Baltimore.

The seventh speech was made to the delegation from the Lackawanna and Lehigh valleys. Major McKinley briefly addressed them.

The next delegations were industrial ones from Cleveland. The employes of the Otis Steel Co. were represented by Otto Grablo, who introduced them to McKinley. The candidate spoke briefly and the delegation made room for the workingmen employed by the City Forge of Cleveland. Major McKinley thanked the delegation for their call and told them he was glad to see by their inscriptions on the banners they bore that they were for protection.

Major McKinley made his tenth speech to-day to a delegation composed of the Mission board, the editors, the members of the Publication Co. and ministers of the Evangelical church. Bishop Bowman was spokesman and Bishops Esher and Horn were with the party.

The Cleveland, Akron & Columbus R. R. sound money club marched in before the stand at 2 o'clock. There were 300 workmen in the body.

A splendid delegation from Wheeling, W. Va., containing 2,500 voters, marched up the street with bands playing and banners waving. There were a number of handsomely uniformed clubs. Major McKinley addressed the great delegations of workingmen, making a strong argument for protection.

A delegation of 250 commercial travelers from Terre Haute, Sullivan, Vincennes and Evansville, Ind., were the next callers. The spokesman was a "boy orator," E. Clyde Wilvert, of Terre Haute, aged 10. He delivered an excellently well constructed political oration.

Delegations were marching up the street and a score of bands were playing. Major McKinley had to make his remarks very brief.

The next delegation was a brigade of workingmen, 2,500 strong, from the Cleveland rolling mills. Maj. McKinley responded.

Next came the Commercial Travelers' McKinley Club and the Commercial Travelers' Sound Money Club of St. Louis, which arrived here 800 strong. Archie G. Phillips, a small boy, presented Maj. McKinley with a silk flag.

The Cleveland Commercial Travelers' Club, with 1,000 men in line, came up and filled the street in front of the stand. The St. Louis delegation was in the yard. R. N. Hull spoke for the Cleveland men and then Major McKinley mounted a chair and spoke to the two delegations at once, turning his face alternately to those before and those behind him.

His speech was one of the most stirring he has delivered. The St. Louis delegation brought an elaborate horseshoe in roses, from which depended a floral drummer's gripsack. It was presented to Mrs. McKinley by E. S. Lewis.

It was almost dark when the next delegation arrived. It was composed of employes of the White Sewing Machine Company from Cleveland. H. G. Hitchcock introduced them.

Major McKinley made a short speech, thanking them for the call.

Pressing closely behind this delegation came three or four hundred business men of Pittsburg, escorted by the Six Footers' Club of that city. George R. Pettit introduced them in a neat speech and McKinley spoke briefly to them.

The eighteenth speech of the day was made to a thousand produce commission men of Cleveland and their employees.

Nearly 3,000 railroad workingmen marched up to McKinley's house an hour after sunset.

They came from Cleveland and represented the Big Four, Lake Shore, Nickel Plate, Cleveland, Canton & Southern, Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania roads. A. N. Watt, of the Lake Shore, presented this vast delegation to Major McKinley, who made a happy response.

The last delegation was one of 1,500 Polish-Americans from Cleveland. It was nearly 7 o'clock when they reached the McKinley residence. Mayor McKinson, of Cleveland, introduced the spokesman, W. Welfeld. Major McKinley made a short speech to them.

A Quiet Sunday for McKinley.

Canton, Oct. 11. Major McKinley spent a quiet Sunday.

Congressman Boutelle, of Maine, who assisted Major McKinley in yesterday's great reception of delegations, left for a speech making tour in the west last evening.

Major McKinley said today the labors of last week had not overtaxed his strength in any way.

He heard encouraging news yesterday and to-day. Michigan people told him they expected to carry the State by a handsome plurality though the Democrats had not abandoned it and were carrying on a vigorous fight.

The news from the south was particularly agreeable to the Republicans. McKinley's friends here feel confident that he will carry Virginia, Maryland and Kentucky.

ARRANGING FUSION.

Populists and Democrats in Indiana in Same Box.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 10. The Democratic legislative committee which met here this afternoon developed the first decisive step towards fusion with the Populists in Indiana. The latter were given two of the five nominations, but the men suggested by the Populists were not accepted. Allen Heitsue and Charles Schofield, straight fusion Populists, being nominated.

LASTED QUICK.

A Slugging Match Ended Suddenly.

Ottawa, Oct. 10. Dan Dempsey, of Boston, and Jack Ryan, of Chicago, were announced to meet in a 15 round glove contest at Hull last night, but it lasted only two rounds, Dempsey having been knocked out before the bell sounded the second time. Because of the short duration of the contest the 600 people who assembled to witness the fight had their money refunded.

SHOT BY ITALIAN.

A Pole Killed at Brooklyn Saturday.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 10. William Matnas, a Pole, employed by a gas company, was shot and killed this morning by Rocco Muraliotto, an Italian, in front of the latter's residence on Montauk avenue. Matnas was foreman of a gang of men employed in laying pipes for the gas company and recently discharged Muraliotto. The murderer was captured.

SUDDEN DEATH

Of Archbishop of Canterbury in the Church at Hawarden.

London, Oct. 11. The Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England, and Metropolitan, Right Honorable and Most Rev. Edward White Benson, D. D., and privy councillor, died suddenly today while attending divine services in the church at Hawarden.

The archbishop was the guest of Mr. Gladstone, through whom he was appointed to the archbishopric of Canterbury, and in company with the Gladstone family went to the Hawarden church this morning.

After the services commenced a commotion was noticed in the Gladstone pew, and immediately thereafter the church attendants were seen removing the Arch-Bishop, who, it was supposed, was suffering from a fit. He was taken to the rectory and medical assistance was hastily summoned. The doctors worked over him in vain and at 11.45 he died. The physicians state that death was caused by apoplexy.

Arch-Bishop Benson was born near Birmingham in 1829. He was educated at King Edwards School, Birmingham, and at Trinity, Cambridge.

He was for some years one of the Masters in the Rugby School and held the head mastership of Wellington College from its first opening in 1859 to 1872. For several years he was chaplain to the late Bishop of England, by whom he was appointed chancellor and canon residentary of Lincoln, having been a prebentary of the same Cathedral for three years previous. He was selected preacher to the University of Cambridge.

He was honorable chaplain to the Queen in 1873, chaplain in ordinary 1875-77, and in December, 1876, he was nominated by the crown on the recommendation of the Earl of Beaconsfield to the newly restored Bishopric of Truro. During his occupation of the See he began building a new cathedral at Truro, of which the outward shell has cost over £100,000, much of that sum having been gathered through the energy of the Bishop.

In December, 1882, Dr. Benson was appointed by the crown, on Mr. Gladstone's recommendation, to the Arch-Bishopric of Canterbury, in succession to Dr. Tait.

Dr. Benson had published a number of works. Dr. Benson married, in 1859, Mary, daughter of the late Rev. Wm. Sidgwick Shipton, of Yorkshire. The annual value of the See of Canterbury is 15,000 pounds. The Arch Bishop is the patron of 195 livings.

SOUND MONEY RALLIES

Addressed by Gen. Palmer and Gen. Buckner.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 10. Gens. Palmer and Buckner reached this city from Chicago this morning. They were met by the reception committee and band and escorted to the Hotel Downey. The meeting this afternoon was held in front of the capitol and was presided over by S. L. Kilbourne, who nominated Gen. Palmer at Indianapolis.

A large crowd listened to the discussion of the pending issues by the nominees of the National Democracy and they were warmly greeted. The addresses were a repetition of former ones and no new points developed. After the speech making Gen. Palmer and Gen. Buckner returned to the station with a committee, headed by Hon. Don M. Dickinson, which accompanied the generals to Grand Rapids, where they made addresses this evening.

MR. REED AT WILMINGTON.

Addressed a Large Crowd There in Able Manner.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 10. Thomas B. Reed addressed an audience of over 5,000 people in the Auditorium this evening. Mr. Reed dwelt upon the need of faith at this time by the advocates of sound money and national honor. What the country needed now was confidence. That made good times and the lack of it bad times.

In a caustic vein he classed the argument of the free silver men as based solely upon "we believe." "That might do," he said, "for theology where the question could only be settled in another world, but it would not do for this world."

The speaker then devoted himself to what he termed the fallacy of the silver argument and explained the relation between wages and commodities.

Senator Frye at Newark.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 10. Senator William P. Frye, of Maine, addressed an audience of five thousand in Caledonian Park Hall to-night.

The enthusiasm was intense, at times interrupting the Senator for long periods.

NOMINATION DECLINED

For Clerk of Courts at Salem, Mass.

Salem, Mass., Oct. 10. Dean Peabody, clerk of courts, has written the secretary of the Democratic county convention declining the nomination for clerk of courts. He is thankful for the nomination, but states that since the Republicans have nominated another for the position he must decline. There was talk of a Republican bolt in his favor if his name was on the Democratic ticket, but this declaration will prevent such action.

POPOCRATS BEATEN.

New York Secretary of State Decides in Favor of National Democracy.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 10. Secretary of State Palmer today decided that the national Democratic party was entitled to a column on the official ballot under the emblem of the Ship, adopted by it in the State convention.

JAIL BURNED

With Two of the Inmates—Prisoner Set It Afire.

Vicksburg, Miss., Oct. 10. The Jasper County jail at Paulding was burned yesterday and two prisoners, E. A. Strickland and Molly Daniels, were cremated. Strickland had threatened to burn the jail unless he was supplied with morphine and it is believed he carried out his threat.

THREE CHILDREN BURNED.

Lost Their Lives in a Fire on a Farm.

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 11. A fire broke out on Chaffee Bros.' farm at Rocky Hill, near Oxford, early this morning.

Three children were burned to death.

BALD WON

A FIERCE GALE.

Another Storm Coming Toward this Section.

Several Lives Lost by the Wrecking of Vessels in the Hurricane.

Storm Increasing in Force and Doing Damage Along the Coast.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Oct. 10. A northeast gale prevailed here to-day and it is increasing in force this evening.

No shipping disasters are reported in this vicinity. A small fleet of coasters are harbored here.

Increasing Gale.

Highland Light, Mass., Oct. 11. An increasing northeast gale has prevailed here since noon. Hurricane signals continue along the coast. A high sea is running outside and it will be a bad night for shipping.

Gale on New Jersey Coast.

Cape May, N. J., Oct. 11. A northeast gale has prevailed here since yesterday, and is still blowing tonight with unabated violence. The tides over the meadows are submerging the railroad tracks. Much damage is occurring to beach improvements at South Cape May, and the tide is threatening the trolley railroad. The indications are for a bad night and fuller tides.

Blowing a Hurricane.

Nantucket, Mass., Oct. 11. The gale has increased steadily the past 24 hours and is blowing a hurricane to-night. Small boats are being sunk at their moorings, but shipping was so thoroughly warned in advance that no accidents are anticipated. A small fleet of fishing vessels anchored off Sankoty last night made this harbor this morning. One three master is anchored in the ground near Great Point in a dangerous position.

Three Lives Lost in Wreck During Gale.

Lewes, Del., Oct. 11. The schooner Luther A. Roby from Cheverie, N. S., consigned to Souder & Co., Philadelphia, with plaster, came ashore at daybreak this morning in the heavy northeast gale below a point of Henlopen and almost immediately went to pieces.

Three of the crew were lost and five were saved. The drowned are: Harry Milby, steward, of Middletown, Mass.; Thomas Sines, seaman, of Boston, and a Norwegian sailor.

George W. Hopkins, the mate, of Camden, Me., is among the saved.

Since yesterday a fierce northeast gale has been blowing along the coast. The life saving crews have been on the alert and all last night patrolled the beach on the lookout for vessels in distress. In the early dawn a schooner was seen driving towards the beach. The life savers hastened towards the spot she was heading for, but she struck before they came opposite her. Before the crew could get the apparatus into working order the vessel pounded to pieces in the heavy surf. The men aboard of her clung to whatever piece of wreck they could grasp and struggled through the whirling waters to the beach.

Five bruised and battered by the waves were drawn ashore by the life savers. The rescued men were taken to the Cape Henlopen life saving station where they are being cared for.

The wind blew a gale today and every vessel in the harbor sought refuge behind the breakwater. Not a pilot boat ventured to sea. The wind is blowing a fearful gale from the northeast tonight and the tide is piling up on the shore. It is feared at high water tonight the life saving stations on the shore may be swept away.

Thomaston Schooner Ashore.

Boston, Oct. 11. The four masted schooner Mabel Jordan, of Thomaston, Me., Hichborn, bound in from Philadelphia in ballast, went ashore between 4 and 5 this morning on the False Spit a short distance east of Bug Light. She struck at almost half tide and was exposed to the wind and sea and pounded heavily. About noon tugs Juno, Vista and Harry Rousel pulled the schooner into deep water.

Capt. Hichborn stated he was coming in just before daylight and was about to tack ship in the channel close to Bug Light but before the vessel came around she took bottom. He states that the vessel is not leaking and is uninjured, but she will go into dry dock for examination.

Bath Schooner Capsized.

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 11. Schooner Alsatian, of and from Bath, lumber laden, for Boston, capsized off Baker's Island Reef this afternoon and is a total loss.

According to Captain Oliver the Alsatian left Bath Saturday morning with a moderate wind, with indications of an approaching storm. At 3 this morning, 12 miles northeast by east of Thatcher's island the wind freshened and the sea increased so heavily that the swell shifted the deckload and opened the waterways.

The vessel soon became unmanageable. Attempts were made to get into Rockport and Salem as the sea was breaking over the waterlogged schooner and the crew was lashed to the rigging, but all that could be done was to let the schooner drift before the wind and sea. She drifted near Thatcher's Island and nearly swamped, while the members of the crew were washed by the sea and rendered almost insensible.

When near Baker's Island ledges the schooner was struck by a sea that carried away the mainmast, capsized the vessel and threw the men overboard. The men succeeded in grabbing a piece of wreckage that came from the deck load. In the meantime a fishing boat arrived here and reported seeing a waterlogged vessel.

OVER 200,000 NAMES

Registered in New York City in Two Days.

New York, Oct. 10. To-day's registration was 71,313, as compared with 109,940 in 1892. The corrected figures of yesterday's registration show that 139,359 persons registered, making the total for the two days 210,632.

Registration in Brooklyn.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 10. The total registration in Brooklyn to-day was 44,271. Yesterday's registration was 90,015, making a total of 134,286.

In 1892 the total for the two first days was 130,011.

KILLED BY FIST.

A Fight Between Two Men With Fatal Result.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10. During a fight to-day at Sixth and Barclay streets between Wlater Griffith, colored, aged 19, and an unknown white man, of about 32, the negro struck his antagonist in the head with his fist and killed him. Griffith was arrested.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at Ara Warren's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, [illegible]

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Treasury Gold Reserve.

Washington, Oct. 10. The treasury gold reserve at the close of business today stood at $124,250,046. The day's withdrawals at New York were $99,000.

Venezuelan Commission Met Saturday.

The Venezuelan boundary commission held it first meeting today since the summer adjournment. All the members were present. The session, which occupied the entire day, was devoted to the consideration of reports presented. No final decision, however, can be arrived at until after the receipt of the report now being prepared by Prof. Burr, whose return from Europe is expected by the end of this month.

Assistant District Attorney Resigns.

Special Assistant District Attorney Wm. Craig, of California, tendered his resignation to the attorney general and it was accepted to-day. Craig is a Presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in California. Article 2, section 1, of the constitution of the United States, provides that no person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States shall be appointed elector. Craig prefers to resign rather than miss the chance of serving as a Bryan elector.

WOMAN DROWNED.

Believed Death Was Due to Heart Trouble.

Mechanic Falls, Me., Oct. 10. Miss Helen King, age fifty, a native of this place, was found drowned in an artificial pond in the cemetery this evening. She is supposed to have had an attack of heart trouble, as she was subject to the same.

It is presumed she went there to procure water for use in decorating the graves of friends.

SKOWHEGAN RACES.

The Most Exciting Sport of the Season on Saturday.

Skowhegan, Me., Oct. 10. This afternoon the races at Fairview Park were well attended, and were the most exciting sport of the season. The unfinished 2 30 class was won by Gipsy Boy, b g, by Charlie Wilkes, Libby, Hartland. Time, 2.29¾; Canton was second. The 2 27 class, six starters, was won by Griffith, Jr., b.g. by Griffith, Simpson, Waterville, in four heats. Best time, 2.32¼; Doc Thompson was second.

The 2 20 class was a great race. In the fifth heat the driver of Lucky Strike crowded into the pole horse, the result being a flop over for Mallet and Arthur S. There was no damage but the crushed sulkies. The summary:

WILL SEEK JUSTICE.

Every Court Will be Appealed to If Necessary by Colorado Republicans.

Denver, Col., Oct. 11. The case of the McKinley electors, thrown out by the secretary of state's refusing to enter their names upon the official ballot, comes up in the Supreme Court Monday morning. If the secretary is upheld an independent election will be held and the case will be thrown into the United States courts upon the plea that the McKinley Republican convention was regularly organized and the barring out of their electors would deprive the regular Republicans of the right to ballot.

State Chairman J. L. Hodge will carry the case through every court necessary to establish their right, as guaranteed by law.

MESSAGE FROM DEAD.

A Bottle Containing Message Found on Shore.

Nantucket, Mass., Oct. 11. Yesterday James C. McCleave picked up on the south shore a bottle containing the following message hastily scribbled on the fly leaf of a book:

"Sept. 16th. We are off Nantucket 20 miles and are about to sink. Please notify my wife, Mrs. Mary Frazer, of Gloucester.

(Signed) John C. Frazer.

"We will never reach shore alive. Good bye."

COURT AT MACHIAS.

Grand Jury Reported Quite a Number of Indictments.

Machias, Me., Oct. 11. The Grand Jury was discharged yesterday. It reported one indictment for forgery, four for larceny, two for adultery, and 24 against rum sellers, the latter mostly in places on the Canadian frontier.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Germany Watching Russia.

Berlin, Oct. 11. The North German Gazette says that Germany has become convinced that Russia has no intention to exploit her entente with France for warlike purposes. Germany, the paper adds, has no political interests opposed to those of Russia.

Gladstone to the Workingmen on Armenian Question.

London, Oct. 10. The editor of the Star wired the following message to Gladstone today: "The London workingmen will meet in Hyde Park tomorrow. Distracted by various counsels they earnestly entreat you to send them a word of cheer and guidance."

To this message Gladstone replied: "My views of the Armenian question are those of a private person and have been fully declared. The massacre at Eguin and the subsequent events greatly confirm me in the belief that our course is straightforward. I rejoice that the workingmen are bravely speaking their minds."

DuMaurier's Body Cremated.

London, Oct.10. The body of George DuMaurier, the artist and novelist, who died Oct. 8, was cremated at Woking this afternoon. The ashes will be interred in the Hampstead churchyard Thursday.

Gladstone Won't Interfere.

Dundee, Oct. 10. The Dundee Advertiser, which wrote to Gladstone asking for a statement of his relations with Lord Rosebery, has received a reply in which Gladstone says: "I find it my duty to abstain from all attempts to interfere with free action or expression of opinion."

Considered Venezuelan Question.

London, Oct. 10. Mr. Chamberlain arrived at the foreign office at 3.30 p. m. and held a long conference with Lord Salisbury and Sir Julian Pauncefote, the subject of which, it is understood, was the Venezuelan question.

American Grit in Constantinople.

Constantinople, Oct. 10. United States Minister Terrell denies that he has made any request to the Porte in behalf of his government for the admission of the United States gunboat Bancroft through the Dardanelles, but he expresses the hope that arrangements were made for her admission before the Bancroft started for Turkish waters.

Mr. Terrell is the only diplomat who has left the protection of Therapia. He is living in Pera and the American legation is the only one not guarded. Mr. Terrell has pointed out the houses of Americans which require special guards, but has declared to the Turkish police that it is their duty to guard the legation without [illegible]

A WILD PANIC.

Many Women Fainted and Were Trampled Upon.

An Immense Crush of People in a Small Space in Kansas City, Mo.

Men Fought Each Other in Desperation and Great Confusion Prevailed.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 11. The last night of carnival week barely escaped being the cause of several deaths. As it was several persons were injured.

Fifty thousand people tried to squeeze into two blocks of space on Grand avenue to witness a mimic play at fire arranged by the fire department. The crush was terrific. The efforts of the police to clear the street only increased the terror.

Women fainted by the score and were trampled on, and children were held in the air to prevent being killed, while men fought each other in desperation.

The wildest confusion prevailed for half an hour and only subsided when an extra detachment of police fairly beat back the crowds at the different openings of the street and made a breathing space.

FOUR BADLY BURNED.

Explosion of Gasoline Stove the Cause.

Baltimore, Oct. 10. By the explosion of a gasoline stove at 25 South Exeter street to-day Dora Rosenstadt, a nurse, was fatally burned, and Mrs. Rosenberg, her 8 days old infant and Jacob Rosenberg, the husband and father, were severely burned.

Discouraging Object Lesson in Portland Municipal Court.

Androscoggin.

A deserter from the Spanish army in Cuba was recently in Lewiston. He tells odd stories of the war there, but they agree in a startling sense with the reports sent out by insurgent correspondents.

"You'd be surprised to know the number of people who have their pictures taken profile in order to send them away to phrenological journals and professors in order that they may be read," said a Lewiston picture taker.

Cumberland.

George Ira Hatch, who was arraigned in the Portland municipal court, Thursday, on the charge of burglary, affords an interesting albeit discouraging study for philanthropists and reformers. Hatch's criminal record began at an early age when he was sentenced to the Reform School where he so won the hearts of the officials that they put him out on probation with a farmer. But it was not long before the boy was again in court on the charge of larceny. Here a trustee of the Reform School came forward in his behalf, persuaded Judge Bonney to suspend sentence and got the lad a place as row boy at the Falmouth Hotel. It was in the forenoon that this arrangement was made and soon after dinner he was again in the lock-up for stealing a vest at the store where he was taken to get a new suit of clothes, which vest he promptly pawned for 75 cents. This ended his career as a row boy and he went back to the Reform School till he was 21. Since then he has resided in Bangor and Auburn jails, and then for cleaning out a summer cottage and yacht near Portland he was sent to the State prison, but not till he had made one unsuccessful dash for liberty. The latest charge against him is stealing overcoats from a Portland business college, for which he is held in $500 bonds. He is now 28 years old and, it is said, still retains his innocent, inoffensive appearance.

Kennebec.

A gratifying instance of the biter bit, is chronicled by the Gardiner-Reporter Journal. A man in Litchfield had a note for $80 against another Litchfield citizen. It was due Wednesday and the holder presented it. The man made a move as if about to take out his money to pay, at the same time reaching his hand for the note, which the other man put in his hand. After getting possession of the paper, he handed the owner eighty cents, and told him to get the balance if he could. The creditor had the sneak arrested about as quick as scat, on the charge of larceny, and the Gardiner police court made him fork over the amount of the note and costs.

York.

A New Market, N. H., despatch says: Rev. Sullivan C. Kimball, the well known anti-Masonic agitator, has accepted a call to the pasturate of a church at Cornish, Maine.

The report from the physicians to County Attorney Emmons regarding the autopsy in the West Parsonsfield murder case states that some of the shot penetrated the heart and lungs. The charge was scattered over the back and head. County Attorney Emmons is of the opinion that the shooting was accidentally done by the gunner, who dragged the dead body into the house and set fire to it in order to prevent the discovery of the gunshot wounds.

Condensed Despatches.

The year and a half old child of James Mahoney, living on Bartlett street, Portsmouth, N. H., was badly if not fatally burned Saturday morning, by the upsetting of a tub of hot water, the contents going on the child.

There was a light snow at Westfield, Vt., Wednesday and Thursday. The snow was eight inches deep on the mountains and hills and five inches deep on the level in the open and on the hills. This followed nine days of steady rain.

Mexican Prosperity

It will be remembered that when George Fred Williams spoke in this city he said that a frequent question was, do we want Mexican prosperity in this country, and speaking for the silver advocates he replied in the affirmative. This question of Mexican prosperity has been one that has attracted no little attention and the laboring men have been investigating the subject for themselves. The secretary of the United Mine Workers of America, desiring information as to the condition of miners in Mexico, addressed a letter to the postmaster of Laredo, Texas, asking him for a description of affairs in Mexico. Laredo is upon the Rio Grande river, the boundary line between the United States and Mexico and residents there are acquainted with the prevailing condition on both sides of the river. The postmaster of Laredo turned the letter over to a Democratic official and the answer to the American laborer, therefore, cannot be discounted as a Republican campaign document written for partisan purposes.

This Democratic official writes that the "Mexican laborer is not so well paid as the laborer in the United States," that he "lives under conditions that the American laborer could not would not endure," that "his food is of the cheapest and coarsest kind and he lives in a hovel." Wages range from $1.00 to 75 and even 37½ cents a day and are paid in Mexican silver "worth fifty cents on the dollar!" When the laborer wants to exchange his "free silver" for good money he "usually finds that silver is down, and when he wants to buy something it is up." In both cases labor has to get the bad end of the trade.

This is Mexican prosperity which Mr Williams says he wants to see introduced in this country. We do not believe the intelligent laboring men agree with him. They have already suffered severely from the free trade programme of the Democratic party and have no desire to add to the burden of their hardship the free silver nostrum of the Popocratic party. The Mexican standard of prosperity has no attraction for them. They want work and they want to be paid in an honest dollar, one worth one hundred cents. This is the reason why they are turning a deaf ear to the so-called arguments of the Popocratic speakers and are rallying around the standard of McKinley, protection and sound money.

Anarchy and Revolution

The announcement is made that Gov. Altgeld has hired sixty halls in Chicago and will hold meetings every evening until election. He has secured a choice array of talent as assistant speakers, the list including Eugene V. Debs. Since this campaign opened the free silver side of the Chicago platform has been very fully discussed and with good effect so far as the interests of a sound currency are concerned. The appearance of Altgeld and Debs in the closing days of the campaign will serve to make the anarchistic and revolutionary phases of the platform more prominent. That Bryan has injured his own cause is even admitted in private by some of his own followers and next to his own speeches nothing could more certainly contribute to his defeat than the fact that he has to place his sole reliance aside from his individual efforts on such men as Altgeld, Debs, Tillman and men of that ilk. A man is judged by the company he keeps and Bryan is most assuredly in very bad company.

[New York Sun.]

A Despicable Instance of Bryanite Degradation.

A Repudiation newspaper of Memphis thus enumerates and describes "a few of the classes in the United States," against which, it says, "the masses" are arrayed in this campaign:

"The Federal pensioners.
"The ministers of the Gospel.
"The capitalists.
"The bankers.
"The salaried men.
"The rich.
"The brokers.
"The protected manufacturers."

This list practically includes every man in the American republic, and therefore affords convincing evidence that there is no such distinction of "classes and masses" as this incendiary Tennessee paper pretends to make. This country is made up of a mass of people with equal rights under the law, no one having the advantage over any other, except so far as he gets it from God Himself, in his possession of superior natural abilities and opportunities.

The "capitalists" in this list include every man who owns anything that has a money value in the market, whether his capital be labor or commodities, or money itself. Every wage earner is a capitalist. Every farmer of course is a capitalist. So is every depositor in a savings bank, every man in business, large or small.

Every wage earner is also a "salaried man." His wages are his salary, and, on the average, that salary is as great as that of "ministers of the Gospel," or the income of professional men. If he is a skilled laborer, it is greater. The pay of wage earners averages more than that of the so-called class of "salaried men" in this list, the clerks, and so forth. The bankers are few proportionately and actually, and a large part of them are salaried men. Where they are rich, they are as much entitled to their money as if they had made it in any other business. The banking business is legitimate; it is honorable; and it is necessary to civilization, to both the poor and the rich, to all society.

The bankers, who are few as compared with the whole number of the people, are [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] As a whole, [illegible] to get along. [illegible] be poor? The truest riches are health and vigor, a sound body and a contented spirit. The prayer for the British Queen is for health, wealth, long life. That is the order, health first. Why does not this Repudiation newspaper kick against the order of nature, of God Himself, and cry out against the inequality which makes one man strong and another weak, one feeble in mind and body, and another enduring and masterful? Why does it not rebel because pestilence attacks one household and leaves another unharmed? Because drought parches the fields in one region, while rains make fertility in another? Because the cyclone's path is through one man's property and not another's? Because an epidemic destroys the cattle in one district, and leaves those in another untouched? Because one man's child dies in the bloom of youth and hopefulness, and another's lives to be the support of the parent's old age?

There is inequality for you; terrible, inexplicable inequality. But it is in the order of nature, and wild rebellion against it is wicked folly. The only way is to set to work patiently to avoid the causes which lead to the deplorable results; and, in due time, with the spread of intelligence and the understanding of natural laws, men will make them serve their welfare instead of working to their destruction. Mankind will have long to wait for the complete victory, but we are getting nearer to it every day, and never in the history of the world was this progress as rapid as it is now. Life is longer, disease is less deadly, the forces of nature are more under the control of human intelligence, the diffusion of the blessings of existence by means of wider science is advancing with rapid pace.

As to society, its progress, in this fortunate republic more especially, is steadily upward. "The rich," in the incendiary Bryanite list, those who have already won a competence, were really all of them poor only a few years ago, comparatively, and a few years hence they will be outdone by those who will have become rich meanwhile. There is no condition of life from which these newly successful will not come. Many of those who are among the poorest now, may be included in the number of "the rich" to be.

Such a list as this Repudiation organ has the impudence to publish is, then, an insult to the American people. It is especially an insult to Memphis, the seat of so much prosperity won by deserving industry and ability. The assumption that there are "masses," as opposed to "classes" in this republic, falsely implies that there is here a fixed social stratum incapable of rising from underneath superincumbent and immovable social strata. Such slavishness outrages the spirit which has impelled Americans from the very day of their coming to this land, poor but ambitious. It is disgraceful. Shame upon the Commercial Appeal newspaper of Memphis!

Of course, there are no classes in this republic. There is no aristocracy, except the innate superiority implanted by God. Every man is struggling to get up and ahead, and the success of those who have already gained advancement, is only a greater incentive for those who are still striving.

How low the Memphis paper has to grovel in order to be able to look up to Bryanism!

We are all pioneers in this republic. We are simply blazing a path by which we ourselves or our children may ascend to the heights of prosperity and enlightenment.

NEWS BY CABLE.

Deep Impression Created by Week's Events in Paris.

New Book on Venezuelan Boundary Issued by Father Strickland.

London, Oct. 10.—(Special Cable Letter)—The week's events in Paris attendant upon the reception of the Czar have created a deep impression in England where there is an increasing desire for an agreement with France and Russia regarding the eastern question. During his visit the Czar has personally enhanced his reputation. He says little but that little is very sensible. All his speeches have been delivered with quiet confidence [illegible] that he fully appreciates the tremendous power he wields while at the same time his remarks confirm the belief that his power will be wielded for the maintenance of peace.

With regard to an English, French and Russian agreement it can be said that this is now looked upon as the only practicable means for England to escape impotence in the face of so-called concert of Europe on the eastern question. In view of this the succession of growls from Berlin upon the Egyptian question are [illegible] taking the form of somewhat plain [illegible] that France and Russia intend to [illegible] trouble for England in regard to Egypt and the Germans will look with [illegible] upon the process is regarded here as merely a display of spite.

The belief is that France and England with the assistance of Russia [illegible] [illegible] the Egyptian difficulty and that while France is preparing to recognize frankly the British occupancy she will obtain substantial compensation elsewhere. ### Lady Lina Scott Arrested

London, Oct. 10.—Earl Russell yesterday afternoon obtained a warrant for the arrest of his mother-in-law, Lady Lina Scott, upon a charge of criminal libel and the lady was arrested last evening at a hotel in the strand and spent the night in a cell at the Bow street police station. Lady Scott was arraigned in the Bow street police court this forenoon. The court room was crowded. Earl Russell was present as his mother-in-law's accuser.

The case is a sequel to the difficulties which have existed between Earl Russell and his wife for several years. The couple were divorced and the decree of seperation was followed by an unsuccessful action brought by Lady Russell for the restoration of her marital rights. Subsequently Lady Russell was sued for libel by H. A. Roberts, master of Bath college, the suit growing out of the scandal attached to the divorce proceedings brought against her husband by Lady Russell which resulted in a verdict in favor of Roberts awarding him 3000 pounds damages.

Lady Scott was remanded for further hearing but was admitted to bail in the sum of $10,000.

Two young men in inferior positions named Kast and Cockerton, the former of whom unsuccessfully endeavored to bring an action against Earl Russell at Winchester yesterday were also arraigned in connection with the charge against Lady Scott. All of the defendants were charged with having caused the publication of a series of libels against Lord Russell.

The arrest of Lady Scott has created a great sensation in fashionable circles.

Gloucester, Mass, Oct 10 At the opening of business this forenoon the notice "Open daily from 9 to 3 p m Saturday in addition from 6 to 8 for deposits only" was posted on the front windows of the Cape Ann Savings Bank This had the effect of greatly relieving the anxiety of the crowd that had congregated in the vicinity of the institution Inside the bank the routine of business was going along as if nothing had happened Most of the trustees were about and when spoken to regarding the bank's affairs said everything was all right, all the securities of the bank having been accounted for The number of persons around the bank was much smaller than yesterday and several made deposits So far as the trust funds of the estates of which Mr Marsh was custodian are concerned, nothing definite could be learned excepting that the Hildreth estate is believed to have been nearly all misappropriated The trustees of the bank say they know nothing about the affairs of those private concerns.

GRAVE CHARGES PREFERRED

Against Officers of Massachusetts Training Ship Enterprise.

Investigation of Death of Cadet Clare from Diphtheria.

Boston, Oct. 10—The hearing on the matter of charges against officers of the Massachusetts training ship Enterprise was resumed today before the nautical training commissioners Mr James P Clare, whose son William J a cadet, died recently at the hospital of diphtheria which it is alleged was contracted on the ship was present with Paul Blackmer as counsel

Admiral Belknap opened the hearing and called for the charges which he insisted must be in writing Counsel Blackmer objected to this mode of procedure Mr Clare, he said had in his possession certain facts that tended to show that things were not as they should have been on board the Enterprise and this should be enough to cause the board to investigate these things without asking Mr Clare to become the prosecutor in the case and carry it on at his own expense He claimed that the parents and families of the cadets of the ship were entitled to such an inquiry by the board

"We will give a statement of facts" he said, sufficient to start the commission on an inquiry and it is the board's duty to find out if any of the ships officers have been derelict in their duty

After some more debate the board gave as its final decision that charges must be presented in writing Mr Blackmer then announced that Mr Clare will fight his case single handed and at his own expense

And now that the board has made its ruling I will submit written charges and proceed with the case

He then presented the following document

To the Commissioners of the Nautical Training School

James P Clare of Quincy father of Wm I Clare deceased lately a cadet of said school on board the U S S Enterprise respectfully represents that said Wm I Clare and other cadets on said ship during the recent voyage were given poor and insufficient food and did not receive proper care or medical attendance

Mr Clare was called to the witness stand and testified to visiting his son at the hospital after he had been removed from the ship and to what he was told him before he died The remainder of the father's testimony

"If I had had food" said Mr Clare, "before I was taken sick I would have been all right but I was starved and neglected by the officers and doctor of the ship Capt Eaton treated me well I have nothing against him but some of his officers were brutes They made us work hard all the time and kept us on poor food The doctor neglected us He was intoxicated about two hours of the time Mr Nazro abused me and other cadets Those men were all right while we were lying off Charlestown navy yard but when we got away they turned different men

This was before I started with his son alive

Cadet William R Franklin of Jamaica Plain the next witness testified that bad butter was served that the hard tack at times he thought was unfit to eat Clare the boy who died on the ship was the witness said wrapped in a wet blanket just before his death It was shortly after a severe storm The doctor he said had not visited the sick boy for two successive days at times and he had seen the doctor when he was apparently under the influence of liquor The witness while on the night watch had nothing to eat at any time during the night

Cadet Baker of Dorchester testified to the poor butter and bad meat and said that while the latter was cooking one could hardly pass the galley owing to the stench from it He had seen Dr Olcott the ships surgeon under the influence of liquor several times

Charles H Clare brother of the Clare boy who died of diphtheria testified to the bad quality of the food served after the ship left Southampton

Witness said his brother was injured while bathing a hose being put in the sick bay but night and although sick his brother was compelled to watch by the bedside of another cadet two hours His brother was taken severely ill next morning, but although the nurse knew it he did not receive any treatment from the doctor till 1 o clock in the afternoon

Dr I O Russell of Dorchester testified he was now treating his son and several other cadets who had contracted throat troubles

The counsel for Mr Clare here requested that the hearing be adjourned until next week when he could have more witnesses ready He also threatened to have the matter dropped by Mr Clare and let the general public carry the case before the legislature and have a compulsory hearing Pending action on the counsel's request an adjournment was taken till 2 p m

When the board came in at 2 o clock Mr Blackmer continued his plea for an adjournment and it was finally decided to put the hearing over until next Thursday at 2 p m

THE IDEAL

We are unsatisfied and know not why
We seek for the ideal of our dreams
And strive to reach it guided by the beams
Of truth and faith setting our standard high
We struggle on but when the prize is nigh
We find that it eludes us and it seems
To beckon onward mocking with its gleams
Like some bright mirage in the eastern sky
With eyes blind to the glory here below
Our thoughts forever turned away from earth
We see no beauty around us and the worth
Hidden in humble things we never know
We grope and pass unheeding on the way
The good that we are seeking day by day

By GRANT ALLEN.

[Copyright 1895 by Grant Allen ]

Phil was just on the point of answering "Ah but if a man was in love with you that would be altogether different but politeness to say the truth rather than loyalty to Aggie prevented him from voicing the thought that was in him

"Besides" Freda went on "if you were very much in love—at least as I count it—you wouldn t have said you d bring her photograph down when you next went up You d have rushed up for it at once that very moment and exhibited it with pride and joy and confidence And you wouldn t have said it was kind of me to want to see her You d have taken it for granted every human being was dying to behold her beautiful face and you d have considered it a great favor to me to show me her portrait"

Phil laughed in spite of himself

"You re quite right," he said frankly "That s just how I felt—some four or five years ago But one can t keep it up to that white heat, you know—at least not —"

"At least not, when?" Freda put it as he hesitated

"Well at least not when you don t see the girl you love for five years or thereabout" Phil answered with rare candor

"Oh Mr Gilman" Freda cried, "I m afraid you re very fickle!"

"No not fickle" Phil answered growing hot and red He couldn t bear to be called perfidious by such beautiful lips. He couldn t bear such lovely eyes to look so reproachfully across at him

Then he leaned forward gravely "Miss Trevelyan" he said with some earnestness "you mustn t think of me like that I really couldn t bear that you should imagine me wanting in due consideration for Aggie But remember we were young—we were both very young—when I went away from England Aggie was 18 and I was one and twenty Naturally I hardly know what sort of girl she may have grown into by this time Naturally she can hardly know what sort of man she s going to marry"

He paused a second Then he spoke still more seriously "At that moment we both loved one another dearly It was a rending to part If we d married then and there we should no doubt have gone on loving one another just as dearly to this very day But then we should have seen a great deal more of each other As it is conceal it as we may from ourselves we must meet as strangers My first anxiety will be to see what kind of girl has come out to marry me Aggie s first anxiety will be to see what kind of man she has come out to marry May I speak to you frankly—only in self defense you know and to repel your charge of fickleness—Well till the moment arrived when I could send home for Aggie my one feeling was a longing to be able to marry her I looked at her photograph day and night with a distinct rapture I looked at it often It gave me a thrill to look at it. It was only on the very day that I wrote home to ask her to come out to me that another side to the question first occurred to me Then I thought to myself all at once, it s not the Aggie of today I m looking forward to see at all but the Aggie of five years ago What reason have I to think she will be to me now at all the same person? I loved the girl of 18 when I left England and if that girl could come out to me now I would love her just equally But how do I know I shall love the girl of 23 who now bears the same name? And if I find her altered out of all recognition what a terrible thing for her! What a terrible thing for me! What a blow for both of us! How appalling to feel you re marrying a woman you don t really love How appalling for her to be marrying a man who can t really love her! We re taking one another now in the dark put the best face you can upon it"

"You re too frightened Mr Gilman" Freda answered with that charming smile of hers "The moment you see her the moment she sees you all your old love will return again with a rush I m sure it will because I can see you re in earnest You think of her as well as of yourself and with you men whenever a man thinks of the woman as well as of himself you may be perfectly sure he s a really good fellow"

CHAPTER IV

At Port Said meanwhile Aggie was sitting on deck with that delightful young man who came on board at Brindisi He was tall and slight and had a straw colored mustache Aggie had always had a sneaking fancy for straw color And besides he was a soldier and aid de camp to the lieutenant governor of somewhere up country (Aggie s Indian geography was as deliciously vague as an Indian secretary s and "somewhere up country" was about as definite to her as any particular name of any particular district She regarded all India, indeed as naturally divided into two main parts—the part where Phil was stationed and the part where he wasn t Further than that she never tried to go. When people on board talked to her glibly of the Punjab or the Central Provinces, Saharanpur or Muzaffargarh she nodded and smiled benign acquiescence glossing over her ignorance with the charm of her manner )

Aggie and the handsome young man got on together admirably He was a certain Captain Angus Stuart—conjectured from his name to be of Scotch extraction—and he had fallen a victim to Aggie s fluffy hair the very first moment he ever set eyes on her Indeed he had talked to her for half an hour on deck in Brindisi harbor and been desolated to learn by that time that she was not only engaged, but actually going out to India to get married Nay he even reflected with a certain bland pleasure at that early stage of their brief acquaintance that there s many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip and that people who go out to India to get married don t always persevere in their prime intention when they see their beloved in his Indian avatar Had it not been for that slight hope Captain Stuart would have avoided talking to Aggie altogether, for being a Scotchman he was of course both prudent and superstitious and he felt the very instant he began to talk to her that here at last was his undoubted affinity

If you have ever lain at anchor in Brindisi harbor, or ever made a trip from thence by P and O to Port Said you will be well aware that there s nothing for a sensible man to do with his time as he skirts the shadowy coast of Crete but to make love to some fit and proper person. Now Angus Stuart was a most sensible man, and though he had too great a respect for vested interests exactly to make love to another fellow's affianced bride on her way out to Bombay to join her future husband, yet it must be candidly admitted by an impartial historian that he sailed very close to the wind indeed in that respect and made himself remarkably agreeable to Aggie. She had a chaperon of course during the voyage When Aggie sang to the Peninsular and Oriental piano in the big saloon it was Angus Stuart who turned over the leaves of her music book. When Aggie sat on deck and declined lunch with thanks, for pressing reasons, it was Angus Stuart who brought her up the unsugared lemonade and one dry biscuit which alone appealed to her maritime appetite Old ladies on board remarked with malicious glee what a pity it was poor dear Mrs. Mackinnon wasn t well enough to come up and look after her charge Old gentlemen observed with a knowing smile that Miss Oswald was going out to be married at Bombay, but they rather imagined she d mistaken the bridegroom

Aggie and Angus Stuart however, went on happily unconscious of the unkind remarks whispered about them in confidence in the saloon at night when they two engaged in admiring on deck the phosphorescence on the waves or the very singular brilliancy of the tropical moonlight

On one such evening in the Red sea they stood together by the taffrail with one accord and looked over in unison into the deep white water There was silence for awhile Then Stuart spoke abruptly

"You haven t seen him for five years," he said meditatively without anything special to indicate the personality of the him in question "That s a very long time you know Miss Oswald At your age and his in five years people often alter wonderfully" (Being himself just 30 and square built at that Angus Stuart affected always to speak to Aggie in the character of a grandfather )

"Oh I hope not!" Aggie cried fervently with a little shudder of alarm for to say the truth her new friend had just voiced the very terror that was perpetually consuming her "It s only five years you know and we were awfully fond of each other!"

"Were" Angus Stuart answered with a quiet smile "You say were yourself That doesn t quite look as if you were desperately in love with him just at present does it?" And he smiled at her wisely

A prudent maiden would have diverted conversation But Aggie hesitated and temporized

"Well five years is a very long time" she admitted with a slight sigh "and of course one naturally wonders whether a person will really still be one now exactly as he struck one five whole long years ago"

"Precisely" Angus answered and dropped the subject He went on to remark on the beauty of the phosphorescence that spurt and danced upon the surface of the water They leaned over to look at it once more together Lovely object phosphorescence on the surface of the water especially when you look over at it two persons together! Impromptu fact they stopped up looking at it in that hushed warmth until all but most all the ladies had gone down to the bath, and only retired to their respective berths just in time for saving the last end of the lights before they were ruthlessly put out for the evening The old ladies on board shook their heads most dismally and whispered to one another with scandalized faces that the sooner Miss Oswald got safe to Bombay the better for her I vow

A NOVEMBER EXCURSION ACROSS THE CONTINENT

Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb have announced an attractive tour to California. The party, under the care of experienced conductors, will leave Boston November 16, spend a day in Chicago, and proceed thence to San Diego by way of Kansas City and the Santa Fe Route. The return tickets are good during the winter and spring, and there is a choice of three different routes homeward. The time in California can be disposed of in accordance with individual preferences, and all the advantages of the annual

CITY AND VICINITY.

The four starch factories at Mars Hill are running The amount of starch will probably not be half of what was made last fall

Early frosts interfered with the blueberry canning season down east All of the factories would have canned many more berries but for this setback It made a difference of a number of hundred bushels in the consumption of the berries, with a corresponding decrease in the revenues of the pickers

John Hamilton, one of Dexter s oldest inhabitants passed away Wednesday morning from the effects of a shock He has been practically confined to the house for some time and has suffered one or two shocks before which left him in rather bad condition He leaves a wife and son to mourn his death

Search is being made in the vicinity of Charlotte for the Italian who attempted to take the life of a fellow workman by shooting last week Both are employed on the construction of the Washington county railroad and got into a controversy over money matters which resulted in the shooting The wounded man though quite badly injured is improving

Operations along the entire line of the county railroad have ceased for the present, apparently to await the outcome of the recent injunction on the road Dump carts tools machinery tents etc are left along the line ready to resume operations if the injunction is denied The hearing will come before the present term of S J court which went into convention at Machias on Tuesday last

The tool house that it was voted at the last Dexter town meeting to build on the old schoolhouse lot will shortly be erected The contract for the job was let to Gustave Thompson to be finished by Nov 1st The building will be 40 by 60 feet with 12 feet posts It is to have a large door at each end and is to be provided with a plank floor The building is not to be clapboarded at present but when it is and painted it will be a nice looking building

News of the death of Karl Kormel grandson of E A Barnard of Calais which occurred at Bound Oregon on September 25th, has been received by the grand parents He was a highly educated mining engineer and held a fine position when typhoid fever cut his well meant and prosperous life short He was a prominent member of the Young Men s Christian Association and was also interested in other Christian work

The Dexter Grange will hold its annual fair at the town hall Wednesday and Thursday Oct 14 and 15 Ample space will be provided and a cordial invitation is given to all to bring whatever they wish to have put on exhibition for which preference will be awarded The hall will be open and ready to receive articles Tuesday afternoon Space will be provided for a poultry show in the ante room There will be a baby show Thursday afternoon at 2 o clock

It is pleasing to notice that the Maine Red Granite company at Red Beach is employing a full force night and day Last week a new engine and boiler were put into place The present supply of orders for the company to fill will last them several months Last is the operatives had commenced labor on Monday morning some part of the engine broke All operations ceased at once, and the hands went out but were notified to return in the afternoon The break was found to be of a slight nature and the mills commenced work again in the afternoon

The department of Maine G A R is endeavoring to make arrangements with the other five New England departments to hold their annual encampments in May next instead of February Two departments have signified their willingness to agree and it is hoped the others will consent The chief reason for the change is that the weather in February is too severe for enjoyment and travel and the facilities for travel are much poorer than in May All the New England departments desire to hold their annual encampments at nearly the same time, in order that the commander in chief may go from one to another The next Maine encampment will be held in Lewiston

A story which is too good to keep is being told of a large Hancock county town not far from Union river In that town are two cottages known by the same name Both these cottages were being put in readiness for new tenants at the same time Into one a minister was about to move, in the other a more worldly man The latter wanted some floors in his house painted and it not being convenient for the painter to come at any any other time he was engaged to do the work on a Sunday And so it happened that the artist of the brush in the early hours of a Sunday morning started for the —— cottage let himself in, and began his lonely Sunday job The most surprised man in town the next day was the minister when he discovered his floors artistically decorated —and, horrible thought, the work had been done on Sunday! Now the neighbors are trying to figure out who the joke is on—the painter the minister, or the man who didn t get his floors painted after all

Vanceboro News

HARPER S WEEKLY is a journal for the whole country It deals with the events of the world that are important to Americans

In carrying out this policy, in 1895 Julian Ralph visited China and Japan and journeyed through the West Richard Harding Davis took a trip through the Caribbean Sea the evolutions of the new navy were described and illustrated by Rufus F Zogbaum Frederic Remington presented studies of Army and Frontier life Poultney Bigelow attended the opening of the Kiel Canal

In 1896 like attention will be given to every notable happening The chief events in art, literature and music and the drama will be artistically presented W D Howells in the new department, Life and Letters, will discuss in his interesting way books and the social questions of the time. E S Martin s sprightly gossip of the Busy World will be continued The progress of the Transportation Commission around the World will be followed, and Caspar W Whitney will conduct the department of Amateur Sport.

In 1896 will occur a Presidential election In its editorials and through its political cartoons the WEEKLY will continue to be an independent advocate of good government and sound money

In fiction the WEEKLY will be especially strong It will publish the only novel of the year by W D Howells and a stirring serial of a Scotch feud, by S. R. Crockett. The short stories selected are of unusual excellence and interest In every respect HARPER'S WEEKLY will maintain its leading place in the illustrated journalism of the world.

PROTECTION AND CARE.
The protection and care of the family being one of the first and greatest of duties, men have devised Life Insurance, that they may not go to their graves insolvent debtors, but rather with the proud consciousness of duty done. Opportunity creates duty where it did not exist before for lack of ability. The man who was industrious and frugal, and died young and poor before Life Insurance was devised, did the best he could—did his duty; the man who neglects Life Insurance now, and dies young and poor, leaving a family to care for themselves, fails miserably and culpably. He falls at last because he did not do his duty as he went along, there was a failure all the time; death made it conspicuous and irretrievable.—News-Letter.
A life policy costs but little annually—it has a cash and paid value and will serve the double purpose of protection to family and cash in old age if needed. Apply to

LOCAL MATTERS.

Classes in bookkeeping and penmanship will commence this evening at the Y. M. C. A. building.

The Supreme Court for the October term transacted no business Saturday. Court comes in today at 2 p. m.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Unitarian Society will be held this evening at 7.30 o'clock at the church.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Gounod Club will be held in Mr. George T. Moody's room, Main street, this evening at 8 o'clock.

It now looks as though nearly 40,000,000 feet of lumber of various kinds will be cut on Aroostook waters this coming winter. To do this it will require the labor of 1,200 men.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held this afternoon at three o'clock. A large attendance of members is requested.

One would suppose apples too plenty to excite the cupidity of thieves, this fall, but reports from different parts of the State are evidence that the habit of stealing is too strong on the part of some orchard thieves.

Mr. John B. Packard has a curiosity in the shape of a horned toad. It was sent to him by Walter M. Robinson, of this city, from Austin, Texas. The little fellow came by mail and is very smart after his long close journey.

Mr. William R. Hunnewell, of Pittsfield, while attempting to board a moving train at Jackman last week, slipped and fell in such a way that the steps of each car hit his body as they passed, and two ribs were fractured.

A civil service examination was held at the postoffice building Saturday forenoon. Six candidates appeared and took the examination for clerk and day inspectors before G. F. Gould, James H. Brennan and John T. Gilman.

Lieut. Herbert L. Royden, U. S. A., who has been detailed as military instructor at the Maine State College, writes that he will leave his present post in Texas for Maine on October 16 and expects to be at the college on October 21.

C. E. F. Stetson and D. W. Burpee, civil engineers of the Bangor & Aroostook railroad, have been making a trip of the entire line on a hand car, stopping at each place long enough to measure the distance from the station to the postoffice.

The officers of Star in the East Lodge, F. & A. M., of Oldtown, will be installed this evening by A. J. Durgin, of Orono, district deputy grand master of the sixth Masonic district, assisted by the Apollo Quartette, of Bangor. It is expected that a large number of Masons will be present.

The Y. M. C. A. State convention will be held at Waterville October 16-19 inclusive. Among those who will be present and take part may be mentioned Mr. J. G. Blake, president of the Y. M. C. A., of this city, whose subject will be "The Financial Problem;" Dr. D. A. Robinson, "Physical Work;" and Mrs. N. E. Bragg.

Mr. Dexter Merrill, of Orono, who was injured at Mr. Francis Garland's store Thursday, was reported Saturday to have good prospects of recovery. A thorough examination by a physician failed to reveal any broken bones. His left side was badly wrenched and it is quite probable that he will be confined to the bed for several weeks.

Mr. Harry A. Frink, civil engineer of the Bangor and Aroostook railroad, was at the office of the State land agent a Augusta last week collecting data from which he will make a sportsman's map of the northern part of the State. This map will show all the roads and waters leading to the hunting and fishing grounds in that vicinity.

The Maine Central double track which is being built between Oldtown and Bangor has been ballasted as far as Webster and good progress is being made with the work. Workmen are also engaged upon this end of the line, but the connection may not be made this year. If not it will be done as early as possible next year. The double track will be a great convenience.

General Secretary R. A. Jordan, of the Y. M. C. A., is corresponding with Rev. D. L. Moody, and Mr. Moody is to come to this city during the present month and deliver a lecture, but the date has not been decided on. A letter received from the evangelist states that he can come at any time during the month that he may be wanted and arrangements will doubtless soon be completed.

The racing board of the L. A. W. has granted a seven-days' sanction for a series of record trials on the new cycle track at Sanford. The men who will endeavor to lower the State records are Wilfred Senior, the State champion, who holds the flying half, the standing and flying mile, the standing two miles and standing five miles, and E. M. Ricker, who has won two championship events on Maine tracks the past season, one at Sanford and the other at Rockland.

The Maine State College press club has elected the following officers: President, A. J. Nute, of Boston, Mass.; vice president, H. L. White, of Portland; secretary and treasurer, C. C. Whittier, of Skowhegan; executive committee, J. R. Clary, L. E. Dow, A. C. Wescott, W. J. Morrill. The press club was formed over a year ago for the purpose of systematizing the gathering of news for the various newspaper correspondents at the college.

The members of the Legislature will be interested to learn that repairs are contemplated at the State House. The old tin roof of the south wing of the building is in such a condition that during every heavy rain storm the water finds its way through. A new tin roof is to be substituted for the old one and work will begin on the job this morning. Several of the committee rooms and offices are to be painted and papered. The dome is to be painted on the outside. A private office for the superintendent of public buildings is about completed in the north corridor. The superintendent has never had any private room of his own.

Game continues to pass through the city each day in large quantities, accompanied by many sportsmen. On the Saturday morning train from the Piscataquis division of the Bangor & Aroostook railroad were twelve deer. Messrs. D. A. Sargent and W. B. Snow, of South Brewer, came down from Moosehead lake with a buck weighing 200 pounds. There was a party on the train composed of George L. Pratt, a hotel keeper at Pownal, Vt., Dr. J. W. Davis and Gilbert Marcy, of Charlesmont, Mass. They had two deer apiece and came from Spencer pond near Moosehead lake. G. H. Adams and B. J. Williams, of Boston, each had a deer which they shot at Moosehead and J. W. Jenison, of Bangor, had one that came from Milo.

Catarrh is a constitutional disease and requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies the blood.

The WHIG is on sale at the news stand which has been established at the City Hall corridor.

The Woman's Alliance will hold a meeting at the Memorial Parlors this afternoon at 3 p. m.

On the Maine Central train from Vanceboro Saturday were 1,700 sheep bound for Boston.

There was a heavy frost Saturday night which began to form early in the evening, and the atmosphere was decidedly cold.

During the last quarter there was an unusually large number committed to the county jail, it being 324. There are at present 82 prisoners there.

Mr. E. E. Ring, of Orono, who fractured his kneepan by a fall some time ago, is getting along nicely and expects to be out of doors in a few weeks. It is thought that he will escape any permanent ills results from the injury.

Millinery openings were held Saturday at Mrs. Eben Stevens' on Hammond street and Miss Seavey's on Main street and many ladies called upon them. These milliners have extensive and choice stocks of the most fashionable bonnets and hats and their visitors on Saturday found a great deal to admire in the handsome headgear which was on exhibition.

Mrs. Annie O., wife of Ara W. Pitman, died very suddenly at Bar Harbor Friday. Mrs. Pitman formerly resided in Bangor and many friends here will be sorry to learn of her death. She was 48 years of age. The funeral was held yesterday. Rev. E. F. Pember officiated and the Universalist church choir sang. The United Friends ceremony was performed. Mr. Abel Hunt had charge of the arrangements.

A goodly number went on the Unitarian excursion to North Twin Dam Saturday. The day was a fine one for the trip and the weather conditions were much appreciated by the excursionists. The day was enjoyably passed at the resort on the Bangor & Aroostook railroad, which contains many attractions and the excursionists returned home on the evening train much pleased with their day's outing.

Workmen were engaged in work Saturday upon the schooner George P. Pierce, of Boston, which rolled over at City Point on Thursday. She will be repaired at Stetson's marine railway. The schooner has recently been overhauled. When the accident happened the Pierce was all ready to sail with a cargo of laths from James Walker & Co.'s mill at Basin Mills. The cargo will have to be removed. Capt. Pinkham thinks that when the schooner heeled over she struck on a sharp rock and her planking was broken so that the water poured into her hold.

On Tuesday of last week Mr. P. H. McNamara missed a valuable spaniel which belonged to him, and on Friday he learned that a guide named Charles Fletcher had left the city for the woods with a dog answering the description of his own. Saturday morning he took the Bangor and Aroostook train for Ingalls Siding, he having learned that Fletcher was in that vicinity. Upon alighting from the cars the first object which met Mr. McNamara's eyes was Fletcher upon the porch of Ingalls' camp holding the dog. Fletcher does not belong at Ingalls' camp, but happened to come there just about twenty minutes before Mr. McNamara's arrival. The spaniel leaped from Fletcher's grasp and ran to his owner. Fletcher offered to settle, saying that all he had was his rifle and a railroad mileage book, but Mr. McNamara contented himself with merely giving him some good advice and after passing the day in hunting returned home on the evening train with his dog. He says that game is very plenty in that region.

Trouble at Hartland.

The suspension of work on Maine's new railroad project, the Sebasticook & Moosehead extension, has been the cause of a lively scene in Hartland.

For two months a gang of idle Italian laborers encamped on the banks of Moose pond, hungry and penniless, have been waiting for their pay.

The trouble culminated when W. T. Davis, of Boston, the contractor, visited the town. He had promised to return with money and when he drove up in front of the Park House, the Italians surrounded him and demanded their money. He did not have any money and the men grew so urgent in their demands that Davis fled to the hotel.

The men attempted to follow, but were stopped by Deputy Sheriff Ruel Williams, who held them at bay with a revolver.

Davis escaped to the country and hid. He sent for his horse, and, as he had to return through the town, rode at a rapid gallop through the crowd.

When the men found the contractor had escaped them they broke down and wept. They trudged wearily back to their camp, and are still waiting for their pay.

Had it not been for the kindness of one of their countrymen, Padrone Sauvino Guarino, the Italians would have fared worse than they have. He has advanced $1,200 out of his own pocket and has not received a cent in return.

President Z. D. Lancaster, of the road, has gone to Boston and New York trying to arrange its finances, so that work can proceed.

Treasurer Hovey says: "We shall commence work next week. We expect that the road will be completed into Harmony before snow flies. All talk that the road is to be purchased by the Canadian Pacific is without foundation."

A number of creditors have placed their cases with the Hon. D. D. Stewart, of St. Albans, and Mr. Stewart is attaching and claiming a lien on the road. J. W. Manson, lawyer, of Pittsfield, has also claims in his hands, but he is claiming no lien. Trainbands on the line now in operation between Pittsfield and Hartland have claims of considerable size.

Water Pipe Break.

About 4 o'clock Saturday morning the big water pipe which runs out from the water works, burst at a point just before it reaches the Y where the new main branches off and also almost directly under the Maine Central track. The city's supply of water was soon cut off. As soon as the break occurred the pumps were shut down and Inspector Sinclair was notified. He immediately had all the water takers who use the water power notified of the accident and those who have boilers in their buildings began hauling water to keep them filled.

As soon as possible Inspector Sinclair had a crew of men at work digging a trench at the point at which the break occurred. The old pipe was taken out and a new section put in its place. At 2.30 p. m. the connection had been made and the city was again receiving its customary supply of water.

During the time the water was not flowing water takers at the houses called upon those who have cisterns for a temporary supply, the livery stable keepers had water hauled for their horses and the hotels kept teams at work hauling water. Many of the hotels were supplied with water at Morse & Co.'s mill where a big force pump was used in pumping the water from Kenduskeag stream. In one of [illegible]

FOOT BALL.

Colby Beats M. S. C. 10-0 at Orono Saturday.

The first foot ball contest of the season between Maine State College and Colby was played at Orono Saturday and was won by Colby 10 0, after a stubbornly fought contest. The weather was excellent, being comfortable for the spectators and not too warm for the players, and a large crowd was present, including people from Bangor and surrounding cities and towns. The most of the spectators distributed themselves along the side lines in order to follow the plays.

The teams lined up soon after 3 o'clock as follows:

| COLBY. | M. S. C. |
|---|---|
| Eels, l e | r e, Palmer |
| Putnam, l t | r t, Farnham |
| Brooks, (Capt.) l g | r g, Gilman |
| Thompson, c | c, Bird |
| Scannell, r g | l g, Lawrence |
| Chapman, r t | l t, Sturgis |
| Doughty, r e | l e, Libby |
| Hooke, q b | q b, Webber |
| Alden, h b | h b, Herald |
| Gibbons, h b | h b, Tombs |
| Tupper, f b | f b, Sawyer |

Score, Colby, 10, M. S. C., 0. Touchdowns, Alden, Tupper. Goal, Scannell. Time, 20 minute halves. Referee and umpire, T. D. Bailey, Bowdoin, '96, umpire and referee, C. M. Bursley, Bangor; linesmen, Mr. Marshall, Dartmouth, '97, and Mr. Abbott, Dartmouth, '96.

The game began with the kick-off by M. S. C. and Gilman sent the ball to Colby's 15 yard line. The teams lined up and Colby, after attempting to buck the line without the necessary 5 yards gain, punted to the center of the field. M. S. C. now began to buck the Colby line and gradually worked the ball down the field far into Colby territory, but at last there was a fumble and a Colby man seizing the ball carried it up the field a long distance. Alden was sent through M. S. C.'s left tackle for a touchdown. Scanell failed at the try for goal and the score was 4-0.

M. S. C. kicked off and on the line up Gibbons made several good gains. A fumble gave the ball to M. S. C. but M. S. C. lost it on downs. Gibbons was again used for substantial gains through the tackles but M. S. C. took the ball on downs. Sawyer made several gains and Colby then took the ball on downs but was soon obliged to punt. The ball went out of bounds and Sawyer got it. Sawyer punted to Colby's 10 yard line and time for the first half was up.

In the second half Colby kicked off. Palmer and Sawyer advanced the ball well but gave it up on downs. Sawyer punted. The revolving wedge was good for 10 yards for Colby and Gibbons and Alden made several gains. Finally the revolving wedge was again used and Tupper came out of it for a touchdown. Scannell kicked the goal and the score was 10 0.

On the kick off by M. S. C. Hooke caught the ball and made the longest run of the game, going over half the length of the field. Colby used the revolving wedge again for good gains, but finally M. S. C. got the ball on the downs. Time was called with the ball well into M. S. C.'s territory.

As was expected the tactics of the two teams were very much alike, both being heavy weights. Both bucked the line continually, but Colby's revolving wedge could not be stopped by M. S. C. and was largely responsible for the second touchdown. Colby frequently used Gibbons to run between tackle and end and he almost always made his distance. Colby has two Phillips-Exeter players of reputation, Scannell and Gibbons, and some of the spectators facetiously called them the "hired men."

M. S. C. played a good game in the first half and might have scored had it not been for the disastrous fumble. M. S. C. had new half-backs and the team work was consequently not as effective as in the previous game. Mr. T. D. Bailey as referee and umpire and Mr. C. M. Bursley as umpire and referee performed the duties impartially and efficiently.

Bowdoin 4, Tufts 0.

The Tufts College team came to Brunswick Saturday and played Bowdoin, the latter winning by the score of 4-0. The teams lined up as follows:

| BOWDOIN. | TUFTS. |
|---|---|
| Stearns, l e | r e, Strout |
| Stockbridge, l t | r t, Sanborn |
| Spears, l g | r g, Healey |
| White, c | c, Bartlett |
| Shute, r gWiggin, r g | l g, Russell |
| Gould, r tMurphy, r t | l t, Daniels |
| Gould, r e | l e, Davis |
| Veazie, q bFairfield, q b | q b, Butterfield |
| Stanwood, l h bIves, r h b | r h b, Mitchell |
| Stetson, l h b | l h b, Smith |
| Clark, f b | f b, Knowlton |

Score: Bowdoin, 4. Touchdown, Stetson. Umpire, W. S. Parks, Tufts. Referee, Fred Sweet, Bowdoin, '92. Linesman, M. S. Coggan, Bowdoin. Time, 20 and 15 minute halves.

The game was rather loosely played on both sides, the ball changing hands several times on fumbles and off-side plays. Bowdoin's interference was invincible and the backs made long gains around the ends. Tufts took the ball on the kickoff and Stanwood made two long runs around the left end and Stetson one of 30 yards around right end for a touchdown. Knowlton played a star game for Tufts, while features of Bowdoin's play were the long runs of Stetson and the runs and punting of Stanwood.

The Bowdoin team was changed about a great deal in order to experiment with the players. and French, the strong tackle, did not play at all. It was White's first game with the 'Varsity. He has been half back on the second eleven. Stanwood has not played since the M. S. C. game when he had had only two or three days' training and he then only played one-half.

George Stetson, of Bangor, made his first appearance as a regular half back and played finely. He made the touchdown for Bowdoin. The Bowdoin team is in an unsettled condition at the present time and many experiments are being made. When the positions are definitely settled upon better team work will be the result. Bowdoin will need all of her strongest endeavor in order to make a good showing against the strong teams she is to meet.

Next Wednesday Bowdoin will play Boston Athletic Association at Boston and Saturday Exeter at Exeter.

Touchdowns.

The Bowdoin second eleven will play the Bangor High School team next Wednesday in this city. This will be one of the most interesting games played on the home grounds this season. The Bowdoin boys are trained college men and get a good deal of science and skill as they line up against the 'Varsity every day. The High School boys will do their best to make the game close and keep the Bowdoin boys from scoring. This will be great practice for the Bangor boys even though they are beaten. This game will be the last on the home grounds for some time and a big crowd ought to see the game and encourage the High School boys, for it will certainly be as exciting a game as will be played in this part of the State this year.

Sockalexis, the Oldtown Indian, is a member of the Holy Cross College foot ball team.

Yale and Harvard are constantly improving and will have strong teams, as usual.

Knowlton, formerly quarter back on the Bowdoin team, is playing with Boston Athletic Association.

Two liquor dealers went to the jail Saturday to see a prisoner serving several months and when they came out into the office one of them, one Costigan, was thrown into consternation by the remark of Sheriff Brown that he had better remain. The sheriff had a capias for him on liquor cases and his appearance at the jail saved the officers some trouble. As the iron door which shut off the outside world swung to Costigan murmured to the companion "Just tell 'em that you [illegible]"

AMUSEMENTS.

Bennett & Moulton Comedy Co.

The Bennett & Moulton Comedy Company will begin a week's engagement at the Opera House this evening presenting "The Embassy Ball." The Lewiston Sun says:

The play for the opening night was a new one to our city, entitled "A Struggle for Life." There is an abundance of comedy in the play, and Justin Adams and Sadie Ward kept the audience in roars of laughter. Frederick Murray was seen to good advantage and received much applause, while Mattie Keene as Emily Benton looked and acted her part well. Joseph Harris was an ideal villain, having played his part well, as did Orson Dunn, Edgar Bean and others.

The specialties between the acts were good and very pleasing. Moulton and Reed in their specialties received many well deserved encores, while Hal King's art diorama was one of the most pleasing features of the evening, as was Master Frank Richardson.

The company's orchestra is said to be an especially good feature. The leader, Jos. C. Kessnick, is an acknowledged musician and composer. The trap drummer, Mr. Addison Reed, is called one of the best in America. Prices 10, 20 and 30 cts. Dime matinees daily commencing Tuesday.

Our Own Folks and Other Folks.

Mr. F. G. Gorham, of Portland, is in the city.

Mr. George A. Alden, of Waterville, is in the city.

Mr. R. J. Phillips, of Augusta, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. W. A. Erskine, of Pittsfield, was in the city Saturday.

Mr. Isaac Bretton, of Bucksport, was in the city Saturday.

Mr. O. D. Smith, of Bowdoin College, was in the city Saturday.

Hon. and Mrs. William Engel have returned from a visit in Boston.

Mrs. J. Waterman, of Bangor, is visiting Mrs. Mark Gallert in Waterville.

Mrs. E. S. Gorham has returned from a several weeks' visit in Massachusetts.

Capt. Horace Atwood, of Hampden, was in the city Saturday at the Bangor House.

Mr. Eben C. Webster, of Orono, returned Saturday morning from a trip to Boston.

Conductor Philbrook, of the Maine Central, will return to this city this week after a vacation.

Mr. J. F. Kenrick, of the Fairfield Furniture Company, of Fairfield, was in the city Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Appleton returned Saturday from a several weeks' outing trip in Northern Maine.

Hon. L. T. Carleton, of Winthrop, State Fish and Game Commissioner, is in the city at the Bangor House.

Mr. Albert Lewis returned from Houlton Saturday where he went to attend the funeral of the late W. H. Buzzell.

Mr. J. Edwin Hazeltine, who has been on a week's hunting trip, making Ingalls' camp his headquarters, returns today.

Mr. Frank R. McDonald and Mr. Joseph H. Williams, of Cambridge, Mass., are in the city at the Bangor House.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dwyer left on the steamer Saturday for Boston to make their home there in the future. Mr. Dwyer came to Bangor in 1846.

Mr. E. L. Libby, son of Mr. I. C. Libby, a member of the firm of Libby Brothers, dealers in live stock, etc., with headquarters at Waterville, was in the city Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Coggeshall, Mr. and Mrs. J. Alton Barker and Mr. and Mrs. A. Herbert Ward, of Newport, R. I., were in the city yesterday at the Bangor House.

Mr. and Mrs. Payson Tucker have returned to Portland after passing the summer at their country residence at North Conway and are at the Twitchell residence on Deering street for the winter.

Prof. Black, of the department of history and political economy at Colby, was in the city Saturday and witnessed the foot ball game between the Maine State College team and the Colbys at Orono.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hayes, of the Oxford House, Rumford Falls, gave a hearts party recently for Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Rideout, of Bangor, who have been their guests for a year and who came home Saturday.

The many friends of Rev. J. M. Frost, of Grace M. E. church, who has been enjoying a much needed vacation in the woods of northern Maine, will be pleased to learn that he returns home on Friday next, greatly invigorated by his trip.

Capt. Fahey of the night force is always on the alert when on duty. Saturday morning about 4 o'clock he discovered that a thief was at work in the long freight house at Exchange street station. The thief made considerable noise when the engines were puffing and the cars were making a noise. Capt. Fahey placed a train man on guard while he went out to the corner to whistle for officers to surround the house. The thief evidently thought he was discovered for he skipped out and ran like a deer. He had opened two of the many doors to make escape easy in case of discovery. The officers searched the building and found a crate broken open.

[illegible] Official Act.

Next day [illegible] his last official act, [illegible] was one of great courage both physical and moral. The national guard in Paris had been reorganized, but its classes had never been thoroughly loyal to the empire, many of them being royalists and some radical republicans. Their disaffection had been heightened by recent events, but they were nevertheless summoned to the Tuileries; the risk was doubled by the fact that they came armed. Drawn up in the great chamber known as that of the marshals, they stood expectant; the great doors were thrown open, and there entered the emperor, accompanied only by his consort and their child in the arms of his governess, Mme de Montesquiou. Napoleon announced simply that he was about to put himself at the head of his army, hoping, by the aid of God and the valor of his troops, to drive the enemy beyond the frontiers. There was silence. Then, taking in one hand that of the empress and leading forward his child by the other, he continued, "I intrust the empress and the king of Rome to the courage of the national guard." Still silence. After a moment, with suppressed emotion, he concluded, "My wife and my son." No generous hearted Frenchman could withstand such an appeal. Breaking ranks by a spontaneous impulse, the officers started forward in a mass and shook the very walls with their cry, "Long live the emperor!" Many shed tears as they withdrew in respectful silence, and that night, on the eve of his departure, the emperor received a numerously signed address from the very men whose loyalty he had hitherto had just reason to suspect.—Professor Sloane in Century.

Personal Questions.

Personal remarks, even if intended to be complimentary, are often complete failures. You may like plumpness, but do not for that reason say, "Oh, my dear, you grow plumper every day," unless you are sure the lady you address is not drinking vinegar and taking fat reducer for the purpose of having a waist like a wasp.

Never, above all things, tell any two people that they look alike until you know exactly what their private opinion of each other's personal appearance may be.

Never talk, unasked, about the complexion, size, figure, voice or manner of any acquaintance. It is not "good manners" to flatter, and you may offend as deeply by a compliment as by a criticism, although you may think it impossible.

There are so many things to talk about—for instance, the faults of others—that there is no need of beginning a chat unnecessarily with any one. An inquisitive person on a ferryboat once thus addressed a perfect stranger:

"I say, how did you lose your leg?"

The answer was:

"By kicking inquisitive old men overboard."

People who desire you to know things about themselves will offer you sufficient information to warrant you in putting leading questions to them. Until they do, wait.—New York Ledger.

Minks Banish Snakes.

Water moccasins were formerly numerous in the region close to Taylor, La. In recent years they have become scarce, while minks have increased in numbers. Old hunters there say that the mink is the deadly enemy of the snake, and that in a fight the quadruped always comes off victorious.

PARIS SIDEWALKS.

Threatened Removal of Open Air Cafe Table and Shop Shows.

Paris is just now excited over the prospect that something will be done to clear the sidewalks on the main streets of the incumbrances with which they are blocked by the cafe proprietors and other tradesmen. The municipal council has made a very small beginning at the most inoffensive end by ordering the women who sell newspapers in the kiosks to take in the little tables on which they spread their wares. The cafes, however, the chief offenders, whose tables and chairs extend to the edge of the sidewalk and even into the roadway at times, forcing foot passengers to walk out into the middle of the street, have so far been left untouched. The reason for this is that the city draws a large revenue, amounting to millions of francs which it is unwilling to lose, from concessions to private individuals of the use of the public pavement.

The concessions are made according to a fixed tariff, which varies in proportion to the business importance of the streets for which they are granted. On the Boulevard des Capucines and the Boulevard des Italiens, in the neighborhood of the Grand Opera, the central point of Parisian life, the tax is 75 francs for each square meter, on the Avenue du Grand Opera it is 50 francs; on the Rue des Helder, which leads to the Gare St. Lazare, the busiest railroad station in the city, it is 30 francs, on the Avenue des Champs Elysees, 25 francs; in the St. Honore quarter, the Boulevard St. Germain, the Boulevard St. Michel, the main thoroughfare of the Latin quarter, it is 20 francs, and it was down to 5 francs and even 1 franc for out of the way streets. The commissionnaires and bootblacks pay the full tariff, the newspaper dealers, flower sellers, cake and milk venders pay half tariff, and the fruit sellers, whose stands are in the roadway in front of the theaters, only during a performance, pay quarter tariff. The secondhand dealers in books and coins along the river quays pay 5 francs a meter. Spaces from a foot to a foot and a half wide are let to merchants who wish to display their goods outside their stores, while the cafe permits for the space on the sidewalk, on which chairs and tables may be placed, the "terrasses," as they are called, are made out for strips varying from two to ten feet. A section of the law which is never enforced requires the sidewalks to be kept clear on public holidays such as the Fourteenth of July and Shrove Tuesday.

From the cafe terrasses and display spaces for stores the city of Paris derives a revenue of [illegible],000 francs a year. It gets 98,000 francs for the right to let chairs in the Bois de Boulogne, the Champ Elysees, and the other public parks. Small stands in the public streets yield 125,000 francs, and the columns on which the theater posters are displayed 20,000 francs, while still other sums come in from the grants for penny in the slot machines, for the illuminated advertising spaces on postoffice boxes, and so on. The newspaper kiosks have been attacked first by the city authorities, because they are more immediately subject to its authority, the city having reserved the right to establish regulations for their management. There are about 350 of these kiosks in Paris, which are let from time to time at public auction, the price paid at present being 210 francs a year for each kiosk.

The municipal council of Paris is considering how in other ways it can raise the revenue now obtained from these sources, so as to restore sidewalks and streets to the use of the public. Though there are undoubtedly classes which people walking in the streets are put to serious inconvenience, it is to be hoped that no such radical steps as the sweeping away of the open air shop displays and cafe terrasses will be taken. Since Parisians have taken to going to the seashore in summer, leaving the stores on the boulevards to put out their lights at 10 o'clock, and since the weekly raids on the palace, brought about by the moral reform movement of the last few years, have cleared the streets of many picturesque or disreputable characters, Paris in the evening has lost more of its life and brightness than it has gained in respectability. If, in addition, it should be no longer possible to enjoy an after dinner cigar and cup of coffee in the open air, watching the crowd walk by, Paris will become dull indeed to visitors and boulevardiers alike.—Paris Letter in New York Sun

Is Personality Fading?

Is there already a reaction against our severely intellectual view of life? One story whose lyric style caught something of the throbbing of pure emotion has been eagerly devoured by a hungry generation. In Trilby there are men and women in man to the touch. Hall Caine dares cope with human passion. But the spectacular emotions of his heroes have in them something too remote to win our sympathy. We cannot all have platforms on which to pass the crises of our lives. Meredith still preaches his gospel that life is greater than any one life of it. But at times the eagerness of the preacher weakens the message. His people, though not incarnate notions, are too often incarnate impulses.

If it were not for these signs of change, one could almost think that in real life, too, not fiction only, but personality, is fading into the abstract. It is possible that these impalpable heroes and heroines represent an actual loosening of grip on reality on the part of people supposed to be alive.

"There aren't any real women in the world any longer," said a clever critic the other day. "They are just ideas. You might fall in love with a half dozen of them and not know it."

The remark carries with it a warning to a generation more interested in questions about life than in living.—Scribner's

Easy Shoes For the Baby.

Many people think it is faddy to be so very careful about the shoeing of the feet of a young child, but if they comprehend how delicate in construction the foot is, and that it is made up of a number of bones of various shapes and sizes held together with ligaments—the bones being 22 in number—they would understand perhaps better how important it is that the foot should be allowed free movement and the action of the same should be helped and not hindered by the shoes that are worn.

Costly For Uncle Sam.

The Chicago postoffice is being demolished. It was built in 1880 at a cost of $4,125,000. Last winter it was found to have settled so much that it was declared unsafe, and in May it was sold as old building material for $15,519.
